Headline:
Patchy rain dying out. Cold easterly winds.

Today:
Cloudy with patchy rain and some snow over northern hills. Much of this dying out during this morning, the best of any brightness developing through Argyll and parts of the west coast. Cold easterly winds, becoming strong around the coast. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
Mainly dry with the cloud continuing to thin and break, some clear spells with a widespread frost developing. However, still breezy, strong east or southeast winds around the coast. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Saturday:
Dry, bright and cold on Christmas Day with some sunny spells. Chilly east or southeast winds, these remaining strong around the coast. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Patchy rain and snow pushing north on Boxing Day with chilly southeast winds. Mostly cloudy on Monday and Tuesday with occasional rain. Turning a little milder.
